

MICRO-MINOR IN DISABILITY STUDIES

The interdisciplinary micro-minor in disability studies bridges humanities and social sciences. The program provides in-depth understandings of the social, historical, cultural, and material predicaments imposed on disabled people. Rather than approaching disability as a pathology, it explores disability as a product of social inequity and as an alternative ethical map for living.

REQUIREMENTS

The following requirements must be fulfilled: 9 credits, including one 3-credit required course and 6 credits in selected courses.

Code	Title	Credits
Required
ENGL 3910	Disability Studies (may be taken anytime during completion of the Disability Studies Micro-Minor)
One course (3 credits) selected from Group A and one course (3 credits) from Group B:
Group A: History, Methods, & Research
AMST 4702W	Race, Medicine, and Public Health
ANTH 3503	Psychological Anthropology
ENGL 3810	Selected Topics in Literature ((Disabled People and the Holocaust))
or ENGL 3810W	Selected Topics in Literature
Group B: Culture & Representations
PHIL 2124	Philosophies of Disability
or PHIL 2124W	Philosophies of Disability
PHIL 2125	Philosophy of Race and Gender
or PHIL 2125W	Philosophy of Race and Gender
ENGL 3915	Literature and Madness	