MASTER OF ARTS IN EDUCATION AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT IN THE FIELD OF EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION AND JEWISH CULTURAL ARTS

The Graduate School of Education and Human Development, in concert with the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, offers a two-year, interdisciplinary program in experiential education and Jewish cultural arts. The program is designed to prepare graduates for leadership in Jewish cultural programming in museums and historic sites, arts organizations and festivals, community centers and campus associations, cultural diplomacy and heritage tourism, as well as private and public educational institutions.

Students whose career interests are primarily in museum education should refer to the museum education page (http://bulletin.gwu.edu/education-human-development/masters-program/teaching-museum-education). Those whose career interests are primarily in museum studies should refer to the museum studies page (http://bulletin.gwu.edu/arts-sciences/museum-studies/ma).

Specific degree requirements are shown on the Master of Arts in Education and Human Development in the Field of Experiential Education and Jewish Cultural Arts page (http://bulletin.gwu.edu/education-human-development/masters-program/experiential-education-jewish-cultural-arts).

Specific admission requirements are shown on the Graduate Program Finder.

Visit the departmental website (http://gsehd.gwu.edu/programs/experiential-education-jewish-cultural-arts) for additional information.