

MINOR IN PEACE STUDIES

The Peace Studies program explores the meanings of peace, the relationship between peace and conflict, and the role of peace locally and internationally. Students examine peace as a vital part of social, economic, and environmental justice, and participate in an internship with an organization relevant to their interests. With the impact of today's global economy on international relations and its cultural relevance, the study of conflict resolution is an increasingly important area of interest. GW's location in Washington, DC, means that students have many opportunities to attend speeches and lectures given by global human rights activists and other world leaders—giving students a full educational experience.
