

MASTER OF ARTS IN THE FIELD OF ENVIRONMENTAL RESOURCE POLICY (STEM)

This program is not accepting applications.

GW's environmental resource policy (ENRP) program offers a multidisciplinary approach to environmental and sustainability studies. The master of arts (MA) in ENRP prepares students to enter environmental policy careers in government, nonprofit organizations, the private sector, and environmental advocacy groups. ENRP is built on a curriculum that includes environmental economics, environmental law, public policy, research methods, and a two-semester environmental science course. The program blends theory and practical experience with a professional, client-oriented capstone project, academic credit for relevant internships and research, and a wide range of internship opportunities in Washington, DC.

This is a STEM designated program.

Visit the Department of Geography and Environment (<https://geography.columbian.gwu.edu/>) website for additional information.
