MASTER OF ARTS IN THE FIELD OF INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC POLICY

The Elliott School’s master of arts in international economic policy (MIEP) is an interdisciplinary program that provides a strong foundation for understanding new challenges in the global economic system. The program provides analytical rigor and tailored professional specializations to help students pursue challenging careers in the private sector, public sector and non-profit organizations.

Evening classes accommodate the busy schedules of working professionals and open pathways through which full-time students can explore internships in international organizations, consulting firms and government agencies in Washington DC. The MIEP alumni network provides professional internship and job opportunities for students from all over the world.

Visit the program (https://elliott.gwu.edu/international-economic-policy/) website for additional information.

ADMISSIONS

Admissions deadline: Fall: January 7th - Fellowship & Application Deadline
Spring: October 1st - Fellowship & Application Deadline

Standardized test scores: GRE/GMAT test-optional

Recommendations required: Two (2) letters are required. Applicants should submit one (1) academic letter from a professor and one (1) professional reference.

Prior academic records: Transcripts are required from all colleges and universities attended, whether or not credit was earned, the program was completed, or the credit appears as transfer credit on another transcript. Unofficial transcripts from all colleges and universities attended should be uploaded to your online application. Official transcripts are required only of applicants who are offered admission and choose to enroll.

International applicants only: If academic records are in a language other than English, English language translations must be provided. The English translations alone should be uploaded into the online application. Official transcripts and certified English translations will be required of applicants who are offered admission and choose to enroll.

Statement of purpose: All applicants are required to submit an essay of approximately 500 words that answers one of the two questions below:

State your purpose in undertaking graduate study at the Elliott School. As part of your statement of purpose, describe your academic and research interests, career objectives, how a degree from the Elliott School will enable you to achieve your goals, and what unique skills, talents and perspectives you will bring to your program. Please be specific.

- OR -

Please discuss an issue of international importance you wish to address in your professional career. Please include how the Elliott School and the academic program to which you have applied will prepare you to address this global issue.

Additional requirements: A resumé or curriculum vitae is required.

Two (2) semesters of Introductory Economics (one semester each of Micro- and Macroeconomics) or one (1) semester of Principles of Economics is required at the time of application.

Prerequisites: Applicants must have completed one of the following before applying to the MIEP program:

(a) an introductory microeconomics and introductory macroeconomics course, or

b) a principles of economics course that has micro- and macroeconomics included in the content.

Intermediate micro- and macroeconomics are highly recommended preparation for the MIEP program, but are not required for admission. Students without these courses will be able to take an online program during the summer prior to enrollment that is administered by the Elliott School’s Institute for International Economic Policy.

International Applicants may be required to submit official English Language tests scores with their application. Please see the Elliott School’s English Language Requirements for guidance on whether you need to take the TOEFL/IELTS/PTE. Please send official TOEFL scores to institution code 5246.

REQUIREMENTS

The following requirements must be fulfilled: 40 credits, including 15 credits in core courses, a 3-credit quantitative analysis course, a 4-credit capstone sequence, and 18 credits in a self-designed professional specialization.

Students admitted to the MA in international economic policy (MIEP) program must demonstrate proficiency in intermediate microeconomics and macroeconomics before taking any Economics (ECON) course, including required economics coursework. Admitted students without this demonstrated proficiency may take courses in other departments, including those with an IAFF designation. For more details, visit the intermediate theory requirement page (https://elliott.gwu.edu/miep-intermediate-theory-requirement/) or contact miep@gwu.edu.

Students who desire more rigorous quantitative methods coursework may substitute more advanced econometrics or mathematical economics courses for IAFF 6191 and IAFF 6193 with program director approval.

Self-designed professional specialization (18 Credits)

In addition to the required curriculum, students work with the program director to develop a self-designed professional specialization that includes at least six additional courses (18 credits). Up to 3 of these credits may be taken in professional skills courses (IAFF 6502, IAFF 6503, and/or IAFF 6504).

*Students may demonstrate proficiency in one of the following ways:

1. Completion within two years prior to matriculation of an intermediate microeconomics and intermediate macroeconomics course with a minimum grade of B- at an accredited university or college.
2. Successful completion of the Elliott School (non-credit) online intermediate economics program. This program is offered during the summer by the Institute for International Economic Policy. Each program lasts about eight weeks. See the MIEP Intermediate Theory Programs (https://iiep.gwu.edu/intermediate-theory-programs/) page for additional information, including fees.
3. Passing a proficiency exam administered by the MIEP program, normally scheduled in the week prior to the beginning of the fall and spring semesters.

For additional information, visit the intermediate theory requirement (https://elliott.gwu.edu/miep-intermediate-theory-requirement/) page or contact miep@gwu.edu.
