GRADUATE CERTIFICATE
IN CORRECTIONAL HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

The correctional health administration program provides a solid foundation for professionals seeking a career in correctional health care administration, as well as valuable training for current correctional health care administrators seeking career advancement. Students will learn how to design a health care services plan for incarcerated patient populations; develop health care administration management skills for staffing and leading a correctional health care team; acquire strategies for cost containment while ensuring the delivery of quality health care; and adopt strategies for facilitating the continuity of health care for incarcerated patients returning to their communities.
