

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN PUBLIC RELATIONS

The public relations graduate certificate program takes advantage of George Washington University's connections in the nation's capital, focusing on the public policy system and the advocacy role played by PR firms and PR operations in corporations and associations. The Graduate School of Political Management engages experts in both the PR and political arenas to serve as faculty. Students graduate prepared for professional advancement in the field.

The public relations graduate certificate program consists of 6 courses (18 credits). Coursework completed for the certificate can be applied toward the strategic public relations master's degree. Classes meet Monday through Thursday evenings at GW's Arlington Education Center. The program also may be completed online or in a hybrid format.

Visit the program website (<https://gspm.gwu.edu/public-relations-graduate-certificate/>) for additional information.

ADMISSIONS

Admission deadlines: Fall - July 1

Spring - November 1

Summer - April 15

Recommendations: Two (2) letters of recommendation from professional and/or academic references; at least one academic reference for those who graduated within the last five years.

Prior academic records: Transcripts are required from all colleges and universities attended, whether or not credit was earned, the program was completed, or the credit appears as transfer credit on another transcript. Unofficial transcripts from all colleges and universities attended should be uploaded to your online application. Official transcripts are required only of applicants who are offered admission.

Transcripts from institutions outside the United States must be accompanied by an official transcript evaluation from an accredited independent evaluating agency.
