

DUAL MASTER OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES IN THE FIELD OF POLITICAL MANAGEMENT AND GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN SURVEY DESIGN AND ANALYSIS

9 credits in Political Management (PMGT) courses

The dual graduate master of professional studies degree/graduate certificate program teaches students to design and conduct public opinion surveys, analyze the data that those surveys impart, and use that data to craft winning political campaigns and advocacy initiatives. The program helps students understand not only when it is appropriate to procure and design public opinion surveys, but also how to generate useful questions, analyze responses, and craft communications about the data in a manner that is consistent and aligned with a political strategy. Students also learn to analyze both publicly available and privately commissioned survey opinion data to develop and contextualize a campaign's or an advocacy group's strategic plan.
