

MASTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH IN THE FIELD OF EPIDEMIOLOGY (STEM)

Program Co-Directors: M. Magnus, H. Young

Mission

The mission of the master of public health in the field of epidemiology degree program is to help students develop the necessary methodological and quantitative skills to work successfully in the field. While nurturing students' capacity to think critically and creatively, students are encouraged to deepen their commitment to improving the public's health and to engaging in and promoting public service qualities essential for future epidemiologists and public health practitioners.

Goals

The goals of the program are to ensure that graduates:

- Understand and adhere to high scientific standards for research.
- Understand and follow guidelines for ethical treatment of research participants.
- Can communicate research findings to a lay audience.
- Respect cultural diversity throughout all of the above.

This is a STEM designated program.
