DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN EDUCATION, HUMAN AND ORGANIZATIONAL LEARNING CONCENTRATION

Human and organizational learning research and scholarship takes a cross-disciplinary approach to the study and application of leadership, learning, culture, and change at individual, organizational, and societal levels. The program of study enables PhD students to conduct cross-disciplinary research on complex organizational topics and develop theories and models to guide global, equitable, and sustainable organizational practices. These objectives are met by fostering an environment of cross-disciplinary collaboration and critical thinking, and nurturing a global mindset and mindfulness. Student are expected to have backgrounds in psychology, sociology, business, education, and the sciences, and to be interested in research-intensive careers.

GSEHD’s Level B research methods courses are advanced courses in a specific research methodology. All GSEHD doctoral students are required to take at least one Level B course in the methodology of their dissertation. The courses listed below are approved to meet this requirement. EDUC 8120 Group Comparison Designs and Analyses, and EDUC 8122 Qualitative Research Methods, must be completed before enrolling in a Level B course.

Some programs require more than one Level B course. Some Level B courses are taken in a predetermined sequence; for this reason, students should check each course description for prerequisites, as courses in the sequence build on others. More information regarding the Level B course sequence is available in the GSEHD Doctoral Student Handbook; (https://gsehd.gwu.edu/student-services/) students also may consult their faculty advisor or research methods faculty (https://gsehd.gwu.edu/directory/) for additional guidance.
