POST-BACCALAUREATE CERTIFICATE IN MEDICAL LABORATORY SCIENCE (STEM)

The post-baccalaureate certificate in medical laboratory science (MLS) program teaches students to analyze blood, urine, tissue, and other body specimens to detect, diagnose, and treat disease. The program covers the latest molecular techniques to investigate and determine the causes of disease.

Required courses can be completed on either a full- or part-time basis. Courses in the major are designed to broaden the student’s foundation in the sciences in preparation for the clinical phase of the program. All courses are taken online, with the exception of the four months of clinical practica. The clinical practica are usually taken on a full-time basis upon completion of didactic coursework. Students typically are in a clinical laboratory eight (daytime) hours per day, five days per week. Students must be able to fulfill the necessary time requirement for the practicum.

Upon completing the program, students are qualified to sit for the ASCP Medical Laboratory Scientist (MLS) exam.

This is a STEM designated program.
