BACHELOR OF ARTS WITH A MAJOR IN LATIN AMERICAN AND HEMISPHERIC STUDIES

The Latin American and Hemispheric Studies program at GW begins with a foundation in political science, economics, history, and anthropology that prepares students to deal with issues that cross political and cultural boundaries. Students in the program explore a wide variety of subjects beginning with international politics and policy, moving through trade and economics, development and human rights, culture, and regional studies. Benefiting from a faculty of leading scholars and senior international affairs practitioners, students have access to a number of internships, diverse studyabroad opportunities, and more than 250 events each year. Program graduates also have access to the numerous career opportunities within Washington DC. Many go on to serve as senior policymakers and diplomats, international business executives, and global nonprofit leaders.

Visit the program website (https://elliott.gwu.edu/latin-americanand-hemispheric-studies-major/) for additional information.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

General requirements

Elliott School bachelor's degrees engage students with global issues through multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary approaches. Students begin their studies in the first year with foundational courses in political science, economics, history, and anthropology or geography. They supplement these courses with others in the traditional liberal arts categories of writing, natural or physical science, mathematics or statistics, and the humanities/creative arts, plus two writing in the disciplines courses. Language study also is emphasized early to enable students to satisfy the third-year language proficiency requirement of the bachelor's degree in a timely manner.

Title Credits

Writing (minimum 10 credits)

Writing requirements are established by the University Writing Program. Students must complete UW 1020 before completing 6 credits in writing in the disciplines (WID) courses. These 6 credits must be taken in separate semesters. UW 1020 must be completed in the first year before enrolling in a WID course for credit toward this requirement. WID courses should be taken in the student's major, minor, or a related field. WID courses are designated in this Bulletin with a "W" appended to the course number (e.g., HIST 2340W).

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Major requirements

The following requirements must be fulfilled:

The general requirements stated under Elliott School of International Affairs, Undergraduate Degree Requirements (https://bulletin.gwu.edu/international-affairs/#regulationstext).

A minimum grade of C- must be earned in all major requirement courses, to include the last course used to prove third-year proficiency in a modern language.

If a student wishes to take any course not listed here, prior approval of the program director is required.

Language (credits v	/ary) strate third-year proficiency in a modern language (Spanish or Portuguese) by examination or coursework. If taking coursework, students can satisfy the language requirement by taking a course that is equivalent to third-year proficiency, or by taking a course beyond the third year which has a listed prerequisite of the second semester of the third year. Please note that the language placement exam determines the level at which students begin their language study. Additional information regarding the Elliott School language examinations is available from the academic advisor.
