

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN HEALTH SCIENCES IN THE FIELD OF CLINICAL RESEARCH ADMINISTRATION

Clinical research administration is a vast and expanding field that involves the processes in which products—drugs, devices, biological and treatment protocols are developed for patient care. Both the master’s degree and graduate certificate programs prepare health sciences professionals to participate in the science and business of the development process. The rigorous curriculum focuses on regulatory requirements, ethical issues, processes for product development, the business of clinical research and scientific method processes. The online format provides a convenient option for self-disciplined and self-directed students to pursue the program and prepare for professional advancement while maintaining their work and other commitments.

Professionals with a bachelor’s degree and relevant clinical research or health science experience may apply for the master of science in health sciences program in clinical research administration.

A multi-level dual degree program offers academically qualified individuals a seamless and accelerated pathway for completing both the bachelor of science in health sciences in clinical research administration and the master of science in health sciences in clinical research administration.
